

Ioannis Bizimis

Co-founder and CFO

Ioannis co-founded QuoScient as he believes that capabilities such as Digital Active Defense or Information Security Operations are nowadays core competencies for every (technology-driven) private or public organization.

Before having co-founded QuoScient, Ioannis has been working as financial management consultant at Deutsche Bank in the Information Security Operations team for five years. Before that he transitioned into producing one of the largest initiatives to innovate the Financial Messaging Infrastructure of Deutsche Bank.

As Director for Markit Indices, Ioannis has been responsible for the software development teams operating the iBoxx families of fixed income securities indices. Moreover, he has worked for Steria Mummert Consulting, AT Venture and Dow Jones Telerate. Ioannis has a technical background and holds a General Mechanical Engineering degree (Dipl. Ing.) from TU/TH Darmstadt.

His mission is to provide his experience and expertise to companies to best defend them against the constantly growing amount of cyber threats.
